REVOLT AGAINST PENROSE IS NOW IN FULL SWING

300,000 Persons Made to See Evils of Penroseism

By Col. Roosevelt

BOSS LASHED FOR EMMITY TO LABOR

Colonel Declares That Gifford Pinchot Will Win Next Tuesday—Shows That Penrose has Been Antagonistic to Widows and Orphans of Pennsylvania—Penrose Prosperity is For the Beneficiaries of Special Privilege, Not for the People—Pinchot Stands for a Square Deal and for Honest Prosperity.

"We are going to put this thing through. We are going to win the Pennsylvania fight next Tuesday." With these words, Colonel Roosevelt yesterday concluded his 1400-mile trip through Pennsylvania in behalf of Gifford Pinchot, Vance C. McCormick and the whole Washington party ticket.

"I am more pleased than I can say with the trip," said Colonel Roosevelt in summing up his impression of the journey and of the 300,000 voters he has met in the last four days. "I am pleased not only on account of the enthusiasm and size of the audiences, but on account of the clearness with which the issues are understood by the working men, the business men in the towns, big and little, and the farmers.

Penrose Prosperity Vicious

"They understand clearly that this is a fight for decency against forces of corruption and misrule. They understand that the kind of prosperity which Penrose promises is the kind of prosperity which comes to wide open cities under red light mayors. "They are against that kind of prosperity, first, because it is vicious and, second, because it is really not prosperity at all.

Pinchot for Square Deal

"They know that Gifford Pinchot stands for the square deal and for honest prosperity that through wise and honest government will be permanently secured to all honest and hard-working men."

Colonel Roosevelt throughout his trip has referred to Doctor Brumbaugh as the "woolly little lamb led by the three seiled children of Pennsylvania politics, Penrose, McNichol and Vane."

Colonel Roosevelt's rough riding over Penrose and Brumbaugh came to a close in the state capital, the home town of Vance C. McCormick, the fusion candidate for governor.

Set an Evil Example

After taking to task supposed respectable people supporting Penrose, for "the evil example they set in their communities," Colonel Roosevelt called on all decent citizens to "touch not the unclean thing, for no man can touch the unclean without becoming befuddled himself."

Then the colonel moved his big Harrisburg audience to emotion when in one of his most forcible appeals to all working men to line up against Penrose and Brumbaugh he said:

"Every vote cast for Penrose is a vote cast against the widows and orphans of Pennsylvania working men."

JOINS IN THE WAR AND ATTACKS RUSSIA

Warships of the Porte Demand Surrender of City But Sails Away

GERMANS RESUME OFFENSIVE IN CONFLICT

Vigorous Attacks All Along the Line From the Vosges to the North Sea in An Effort to Find a Weak Spot in the Line of the Allies—Most Fighting is in Progress in Northern France, Especially in the Vicinity of Lille; Where the Germans are Using the Wedge Formation in Attempt to Open the Way to Dunkirk and Calais.

(By International News Service)
London, Oct. 30.—Entrance of Turkey into the European war was heralded yesterday by the bombardment of Theodosia, a Russian port in Crimea, by a Turkish cruiser.

A demand for the surrender of Novorossiysk, another Russian Black sea port, was made by a second cruiser. The Turkish warship sailed away without carrying out its threat of bombardment.

The Russian ambassador at Constantinople has withdrawn because of Turkish attacks on Russian forts. Instructions have been forwarded to Russian consuls to leave Turkey.

Sensation in Petrograd

Petrograd, Oct. 30.—The announcement by the press that Turkey began war on Russia caused a tremendous sensation here. Thousands of Russians paraded through the streets to the embassy of the allies and cheered for the envoys, who appeared on the balconies and made speeches to the crowds.

The crowds made a demonstration before the Turkish embassy, but a heavy guard was stationed around it and no violence was attempted.

Farrat Effendi Bey, charge d'affaires from Turkey, was dining when news reached him and was greatly surprised. He declared he would not credit the report until officially informed.

German Resume Offensive

Paris, Oct. 30.—Germans are resuming the offensive along the line from the North sea to the Vosges, striking vigorously in an effort to find a weak spot on the allies' line.

Hard fighting has developed in northern France, especially in the vicinity of Lille and Arras, where the Germans are using wedge tactics in an attempt to open a way to Dunkirk and Calais.

German Troops Flooded

It was officially stated today: "On the extreme left flank, spread by the Belgian army, who opened the dykes, in the lower valley of the Yser river, have compelled the Germans occupying positions across that river to retreat, with the French and Belgians shelling them."

"The Germans yesterday attempted three violent counterattacks on the French and British corps advancing to the northeast of Yser."

British in the Offensive

At the end of the day our troops continued their forward movement in the direction assigned and took several points of support. The British, attacked at several points to the north of La Bassée by superior forces, have retaken an energetic offensive, regaining in large measure the ground taken by the enemy. On the right of the battle front there is no general action, but partial offensive movements on both sides."

I. J. KINTNER ARRESTED BY SHAMOKIN POLICE

The Sunbury Daily Item publishes the following in reference to Attorney J. J. Kintner, of Lock Haven, a prominent Socialist and a recent candidate for the judgeship in Blair and Clearfield counties, who has a law office in this county:

"Considerable excitement prevailed in Independence street, Shamokin, Sunday, when Attorney J. J. Kintner, of Lock Haven, appearing there under the auspices of the Socialists, launched into a public Socialist address. Persons who were in the vicinity at the time were informed that Attorney Kintner was making a political speech and hastened to the scene. The speaker was informed that political addresses were not allowed on the streets of Shamokin on the Sabbath and was asked to desist. However, he persisted in talking and was placed under arrest and taken to the council chamber. Burgess Drumheller was there and after acquainting the barrister with the municipal law, in (Continued on Page Eight)

About 175 students were present at the masquerade party given at the high school last evening by the Senior class for the benefit of the athletic association. The masqueraders were dressed in a great variety of costumes, and most of them were disguised so that even their best friends did not know them.

Two Victrolas, one on each floor, furnished music for games and dancing and the evening was passed in an enjoyable manner. Refreshments were served. The big literary event of the evening was a political speech made by Millard Phillips and greatly appreciated by his audience.

PRETTY WEDDING OCCURS LAST NIGHT

Miss Evelyn E. Leitinger Becomes Bride of Lewis H. Sykes

A DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL EVENT

After a Wedding Supper the Bride and Groom Leave on a Honeymoon Trip Through East, and Upon Their Return They Will Reside on Fifth Street; Popular Young People.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place last evening at six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Market street when Miss Evelyn Elizabeth Leitinger was united in marriage with Lewis H. Sykes, Father Ryan officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties.

The house was attractively decorated in green foliage, white wedding bells and yellow caryanthems. As Wagner's wedding march from Lohengrin was played the wedding procession, led by John Leitinger, Jr., and Miss Frances Usher, the ribbon bearers, came in and took their places underneath a shower of green foliage and white wedding bells. Miss Blanche Lynde was the flower girl and Miss Mary Zimmerman maid of honor. The bride was dressed in a gown of white with a train and lace and carried yellow caryanthems. The bride, who was given away by her father, John Leitinger, Sr., wore a beautiful crown of flowers and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the field.

After the ceremony a delightful wedding supper was served in the dining room, which was tastefully decorated with yellow caryanthems. Twelve of the guests were seated at the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Sykes left in an automobile for Tyrone, from where they will visit eastern cities for ten days, immediately after the wedding supper. Upon their return they will reside on Fifth street.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and valuable gifts. Mr. Sykes is employed at the County national bank and has many friends. Mrs. Sykes is a young lady who has been very popular in the young social set of Clearfield, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Leitinger.

The out of town guests were: Miss Agnes Anderson, of Oil City; Mrs. Cohen Rogers, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Murray, of Reynoldsville; Mr. and Mrs. Law Sykes, of Ridgway, and Mrs. James A. Gleason, of DuBois.

There will be a meeting to make arrangements for election day tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Board Ward High School.

WANTS TO BUSINESS IT IS IF THE SENATOR DRINKS LIQUOR

The Republican meeting held in the opera house last evening was notable for several things. In the first place the silver tongued orators who had been expected to be present and after apologies for Penroseism failed to materialize. In the second place, the speakers who discussed political questions appeared to be tongue-tied when it came to dilating on the chief issues of the campaign. In the third place, the audience appeared to be in the clasp of Old Gloom, and enthusiasm was conspicuous by its absence. In the fourth place, the most enjoyable part of the program was the musical numbers played by the local Italian band.

Collins and Crago Absent
Emerson Collins, of Williamsport, was unavoidably absent, as was also Candidate for Congress-at-large Crago, hence Penrose machine headquarters in Pittsburg was levied upon for two speakers, responding by sending Hamilton Garland, a giant of flesh and Harold Irons, a pigmy, physically and mentally, and these gentlemen performed the embarrassing task before them with the best of their ability.

Irons paid his respects to Colonel Roosevelt, reminding some of those in the audience of a bantam rooster sliding up to a game cock. Both these orators praised the Republican (Continued on Page Eight)

ENCOURAGE THE TEAM BY ATTENDING THE GAME

In no other town in this section do the people have the opportunity to see such first class high school football games as do they here. The standard of athletics here is also higher than in most places absolutely no student being permitted to play in a game who is not a bona fide student maintaining a passing grade in his studies. The rivalry with which this rule is applied was demonstrated at the game last week when two of the first string players who were in town on the day line were not allowed to enter the game. Encourage the team by attending the game with Huntington at the Driving park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

J. A. SCHLICHTER AT OPERA HOUSE SUNDAY

J. Arthur Schlichter, of Philadelphia, will be the speaker at the men's meeting in the opera house on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Schlichter will give the story of his life, which is very thrilling, and it is wonderful how this man was ever left to tell what he does. This will be the best lecture that will be given in Clearfield this season, and you cannot afford to miss it. Every man who hears Mr. Schlichter will never forget the occasion. All men are invited.

Good evening! Watching the sore and yellow leaf fall, are you; well, bear in mind that the trees will be just as full of green leaves next spring and summer as they were this year.

Burgess Callahan asks citizens to clean up about their premises. It should not be necessary for the burgess to issue such a proclamation in a town the citizens of which lay claim to being both intelligent and careful of the health of the community.

We don't see the name of Lord Duff-Gordon among the dead heroes of the European war. The man who can sneak away a ship's sinker and set at sea is not likely to be a much heroism on the battle field.

And now Ireland's anti-English invasion by the West End who prepared to fight such a battle with the German. Ireland's anti-English foundations to be destroyed.

Colonel Roosevelt's name is put down in the list of candidates for the office of United States senator. He is a great state of Pennsylvania. Thousands of reputable Republicans refuse to support Penrose, because of his candidacy in the saloon, the dive and the low-breakers.

The Republicans have as their candidate for governor a gentleman who is Colonel Roosevelt says, is so intelligent that he does not know that the name of the United States citizens as he would vote for Penrose also vote for Brumbaugh. The grand old man in fact, is so poorly equipped for the position he seeks that it would be a shame to elect him. Pennsylvania had a representative experience with one Samuel Pennypacker, who was so unscrupulous that he permitted a Quay gang to rob the state of nine million dollars. May heaven and the good sense of the voters save the people from another boss-ridden governor!

Turning from these last named two candidates the voters cannot but contemplate with satisfaction the candidate placed before them by the Washington party—Gifford Pinchot for United States senator. So free from the faults which weigh down both Penrose and Brumbaugh and so great are his virtues that unless the voters are blind they cannot refuse to cast their ballots for Gifford Pinchot. The people may rest assured that if Gifford Pinchot shall be elected next Tuesday he will represent them intelligently, ably and in their interests, not in the interests of the Standard Oil company or any other monopoly.

There should be no doubt in the minds of the voters as to which of the candidates for United States senator they should support at the polls next Tuesday. Colonel Roosevelt declares that the only means whereby Penroseism and its evils may be destroyed is by the election of Gifford Pinchot. Behind Pinchot are the most conservative, the most loyal and the most respectable citizens of Pennsylvania. He is a man who can be trusted to protect the best interests of the people and to represent the true sentiments of the people in the

Pinchot Will Continue Whirlwind Campaign

(SPECIAL TO THE PROGRESS)
Phila., Oct. 30.—Gifford Pinchot will keep up his whirlwind campaign until the night before election. With the arrival in Philadelphia yesterday of the Roosevelt special and the ending of the greatest campaign trip this state ever knew, Pinchot started at once to visit mills and factories in the city.

Last night he addressed a series of three ward meetings in different parts of the city.

Beginning this morning he will address four shop meetings during the day and make a speech in the central part of the city.

On Friday evening he will address five ward meetings in various sections of Philadelphia. Late Friday night he will take a sleeper to Pittsburgh and, starting early on Saturday morning, address a series of street meetings in the Pittsburgh district, ending with a mass meeting Saturday night at New Kensington.

During the course of Saturday he will make speeches at Carnegie, Crafton, Ingram, McKees Rocks, Hays Borough, West Monestead Millvale, Etna, Sharpsburg, Breckinridge, and Tarentum.

On Monday he will make a campaign tour through Wayne and Pike counties, closing his campaign at Millford, his home town, with a mass meeting.

The Million Dollar Mystery

By HAROLD MAG GRATH

Illustrated from Scenes in the Photo Drama of the Same Name by the Thanhouser Film Company

(Copyright, 1914, by Harold MacGrath)

"Now what, my child?" asked the sailor.

She shook her head. Her aversion was inexplicable.

"Come, my dear; can't you see that it is your father?" Braine turned to the captain. "She has been like this for a year. Heaven knows if she'll ever be in her right mind again," sadly. "I was giving her an ocean voyage, with the kindest nurses possible, and yet she jumped overboard. Come, Florence."

The girl wrapped her arms about the sailor around Braine's neck.

An idea came into the old sailor's head. "Of course, sir, you've got proof that she's your daughter?"

"Proof?" Braine was taken aback. "Yes, something to prove that she is my daughter. I got skinned out of a sleep once because I took a black and white, and on paper, says I, hereafter."

"But I never thought of such a thing," protested Braine, beginning to lose his patience. "I can't risk sending to New York for documents like this, my daughter, and you will find it will not pay to take this peculiar stand."

"In black and white, 'r' y' can't have her."

Braine thereupon rushed forward to seize Florence. Braine swung Florence behind him.

"I guess she'll stay here a little longer, sir."

Time was vital, and this obstinacy

"Girl, I Love You Better Than Life," made Braine furious. He reached again for Florence.

"Clear out of here, 'r' show your authority," growled Braine.

"She goes with me, or you'll regret it."

"All right. But I guess the law won't hurt me none. I'm in my rights. There's the door, mister."

"I refuse to go without her!"

Braine sighed. He was on land a man of peace, but there was a limit to his patience. He seized Braine by the shoulders and hustled him out of the house.

"Bring your proofs, mister, and nothing more'll be said; but till you bring 'em, keep away from this cottage."

And, simple-minded sailor that he was, he thought this settled the matter.

That night he kept his ears open for unusual sounds. He was merely wasted his night's rest. Quite naturally, he reckoned that the stranger would make his attempt at night. Indeed, he made it in broad daylight, with Braine not a hundred yards away, talking a dory whose seams had sprung apart. Braine had Florence upon the chartered yacht before the old man realized what had happened. He never saw Florence again, but one day, months later, he read all about her in a newspaper.

Florence fought, but she was weak, and so the conquest was easy. Braine was kind enough, now that he had her safe. He talked to her, but she merely stared at the receding coast.

"All right; don't talk if you don't want to. Here," to one of the men, "take her to the cabin and keep her there. But don't you touch her. I'll break you if you do. Put her in the cabin and guard the door, at least keep an eye on it. She may take it into her head to jump overboard."

Even the temporarily demented are not without a species of cunning. Florence had never seen Braine until he appeared at the Barnes cottage. Yet she revolted at the touch of his hand. On the second day out toward New York, she found a box of matches and it was set fire to her cabin, valued out into the corridor and thence to the deck. When the fire was at its height, she had a much head up to the sea, and she was rescued by a boat from the coast and on a day drifted helplessly.

Fate has ever been a cruel and capricious deity. You move a pawn and bring down a king. Braine's cunning had been his ruin. He had lost the innocent.

Mike Bannock was in the pilothouse, looking out the charts when the look-out on the coast saw the boat.

man with the opera glasses over the way. He shrugged. Well, let him watch till his eyes dropped out of his head, he would see only that which was intended for his eyes. Still, it was irksome to feel that no matter when or where you moved, watching eyes observed and chronicled these movements.

Suddenly, not being devoid of a sense of dry humor, Jones stepped over to the telephone and called up her highness the Princess Perigot.

"Who is it?"

He was forced to admit, however reluctantly, that the woman had a marvellously fine speaking voice.

"It is Jones, madam."

"Jones?"

"Mr. Hargreave's butler, madam."

"O! You have news of Florence?"

"Yes." It will be an embarrassing day for humanity when some one invents a photographic apparatus by which two persons at the two ends of the telephone may observe the facial expressions of each other.

"What is it? Tell me quickly."

"Florence has been found, and she is on her way back to New York. She was found by Mr. Norton, the reporter."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation and is very prominent at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse. Use again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs while then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

"I am so glad! Shall I come up and once and have you tell me the whole amazing story?"

"It would be useless, madam, for I know nothing except what I learned from a telegram I have just received. But no doubt some time this evening you might risk a call."

"Ring up the instant she returns. Did she say what train?"

"No, madam," hed Jones, smiling. He hung up the receiver and stared at the telephone as if he would force his gaze in and through it to the woman at the other end. Flesh and blood! Well, greed was stronger than that. Treacherous cat! Let her play; let her weave her nets, dig her pits. The day would come, and it was not far distant, when she would find that the mild-eyed mongroos was just as deadly as the cobra, and far more cunning.

The heads of the Black Hundred must be destroyed. Those were the orders. What good to denounce them, to send them to a prison from which, with the aid of money and a tremendous secret political pull, they might readily find their way out? They must be exterminated, as one kills off the poisonous plague rats of the Orient. A woman? In the law of reprobation there was no sex.

Shortly after the telephone episode (which rather puzzled the princess) she received a wire from Dr. Braine which announced the fact that Florence and she had escaped and were coming to New York on train No. 25, and advised her to meet the train en route. She had to fly about to do it.

Which Will He Fool?

The honor interests are practically a unit in their opposition to local option. They are well-nigh unanimous in their support of Dr. Braine, who is pledged to local option. Some temperance folks are supporting him on the strength of his pledge, but we submit that if he is elected governor, it would be absolutely necessary for him to double cross either the honor men to whom he will owe his election or to those temperance advocates who have supported him on his word that he would work for and secure a local option bill!—American Issue.

"No, madam," hed Jones, smiling. He hung up the receiver and stared at the telephone as if he would force his gaze in and through it to the woman at the other end. Flesh and blood! Well, greed was stronger than that. Treacherous cat! Let her play; let her weave her nets, dig her pits. The day would come, and it was not far distant, when she would find that the mild-eyed mongroos was just as deadly as the cobra, and far more cunning.

The heads of the Black Hundred must be destroyed. Those were the orders. What good to denounce them, to send them to a prison from which, with the aid of money and a tremendous secret political pull, they might readily find their way out? They must be exterminated, as one kills off the poisonous plague rats of the Orient. A woman? In the law of reprobation there was no sex.

Shortly after the telephone episode (which rather puzzled the princess) she received a wire from Dr. Braine which announced the fact that Florence and she had escaped and were coming to New York on train No. 25, and advised her to meet the train en route. She had to fly about to do it.

WHY PINCHOT WILL WIN

The solid Washington Party vote is behind him. 200,000 members of church and good government leagues, representing all political parties, have unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

Anti-saloon forces throughout the state in convention at Harrisburg overwhelmingly endorsed Pinchot.

National Republicans such as Harry L. Stimson, Secretary of War under President Taft; Herbert Knox Smith, formerly United States Commissioner of Corporations; Congressman William Kent of California, Lawrence O. Murray, Controller of the Currency for five years; Herbert Parsons of New York and other leaders have called on the Republicans of Pennsylvania for the sake of their own party to defeat Penrose and elect Gifford Pinchot.

Powerful Republican newspapers, such as the New York Tribune, the historic mouthpiece of the Republican party, call on the Republicans of Pennsylvania for their party's sake to defeat Penrose and elect Pinchot.

Leading National Democrats, such as Herbert Quick, leader of the Country Life movement; Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, head of the Pure Food movement; Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Union, an organization of 3,000,000 farmers, and Herbert S. Bigelow have endorsed Pinchot, and declared that he is the one man who should be elected United States Senator from Pennsylvania.

GIFFORD PINCHOT
Washington Party Candidate for U. S. Senator.

Labor leaders endorse Pinchot. In the western part of the state James H. Maurer, president of the State Federation of Labor, spoke from the platform with Pinchot.

Representative citizens of Huntingdon and other counties unanimously endorsed Pinchot and asked Palmer to withdraw.

The annual convention of the Epworth League of the Northwestern district of Pennsylvania, meeting at Norristown, unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

The East Pennsylvania conference of the United Brethren church unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

The Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association gives Pinchot great ovation and hails him as "Our next Senator."

The Pittsburgh M. E. conference unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

The East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran church endorses Pinchot.

County good government leagues, county ministerial associations, county local option leagues, county anti-saloon leagues, county "Bully" Sunday associations, have endorsed Pinchot all over the state.

THE WEAKNESS OF MR. PALMER

Palmer cannot even poll the full Democratic votes. The Donnelly-Ryan "Old Guard" Democrats of Philadelphia are for Penrose.

The Duffy "Old Guard" Democrats of Pittsburgh are against Palmer and for Penrose.

The Old Guard Democrats of the coal regions have repudiated Palmer's leadership and will stand with the Donnelly-Ryan crowd of Philadelphia against Palmer.

The J. K. P. Hall "Old Guard" Democrats of Elk county are against Palmer.

The good government forces of the state in convention at Harrisburg have asked Palmer to quit the race because Pinchot is the stronger man.

Voters allied with good government leagues, anti-saloon leagues, church associations and other good government forces have joined their state body in asking Palmer to quit in favor of Gifford Pinchot, who is a stronger man.

Voters of Warren county, Philadelphia county, Huntingdon county, and other counties who want to see Penrose beaten, have adopted resolutions asking Palmer to quit, so that all the forces of good government can center on Gifford Pinchot and make the defeat of Penrose absolutely sure.

Hon. A. S. Moulthrop

Candidate For State Senate

Nominated By The Washington and Prohibition Parties

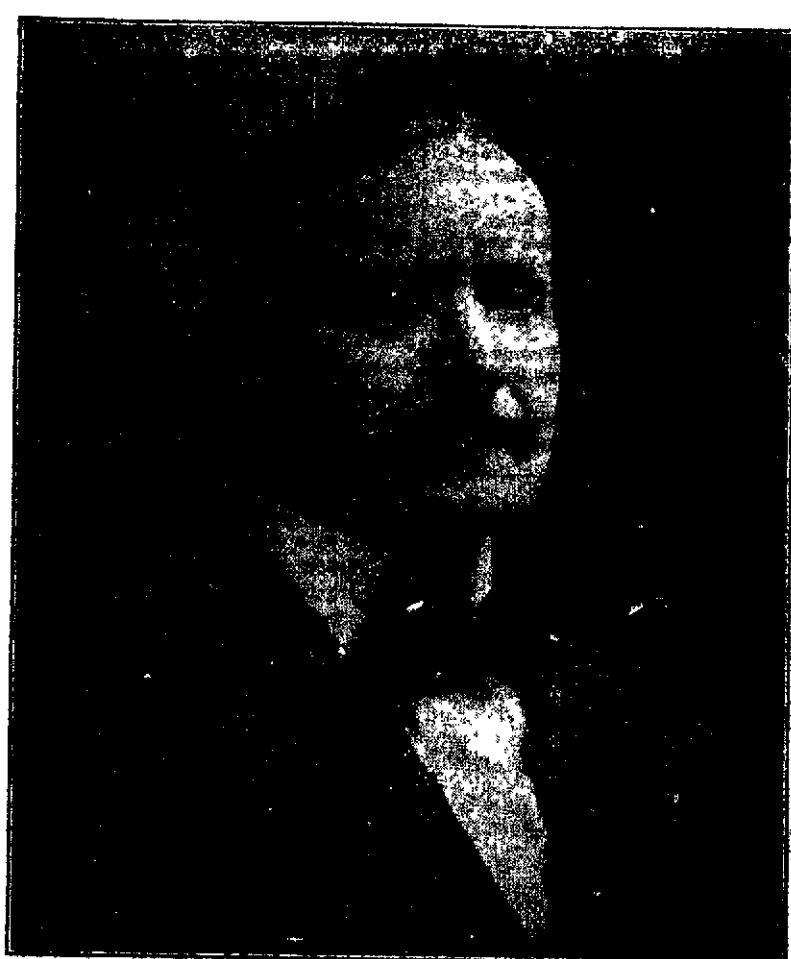

Hon. Alonzo S. Moulthrop, candidate for state senator on the Washington and Prohibition tickets, is a young man who has already made his mark in the state. As a member of the state house of representatives for four terms he so ably represented his constituents that they persuaded him to become their candidate for the state senate, believing that his qualifications were such as to fit him for the position.

As a member of the lower house Mr. Moulthrop aided very materially in cleaning up that branch of the law-making power of the state, and his friends believe that as a member of the senate he would be of great assistance in purging the upper body of the legislature of some of the unpopular methods by which the will of the people is defied.

Mr. Moulthrop stands on a platform of principles the chief planks of which are: A workman's compensation law, a child labor law; woman's suffrage; minimum wage scale for women; local option; state and national prohibition; fair union labor. With this platform as a basis for his candidacy Mr. Moulthrop believes he is entitled to the support of the voters of the district.

The activities of Mr. Moulthrop in behalf of the people have been such as to commend him to the voters of all political parties. One of the labors performed by Mr. Moulthrop has saved the county of Clearfield $30,000 in the past eight years—that of bringing about the repeal of the act of assembly providing for the payment of a percentage to the treasurer for handling county funds.

Even Mr. Moulthrop's opponents agree that he will receive at least 1000 votes in DuBois, which gives him an excellent start in the district. He is very popular among the people who favor good government, and will receive the votes of many members of the Republican and Democratic parties in addition to the full vote of the Washington and Prohibition parties.

Mr. Moulthrop, as a member of the legislature, was a loyal supporter of State college, helping by his voice and vote in securing for the college the appropriations needed to increase the efficiency of the institution and taking great interest in its growth and prosperity.

SEMI-ANNUAL INSPECTION OF THE B. & P. LINES

William T. Noonan, president, and the board of directors of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway, left Rochester Tuesday morning on their semi-annual inspection of the railway property and will cover the entire main line from Rochester and Buffalo to Pittsburgh and New Castle, together with the branches and main lines, consuming the entire week in this work.

In addition to the inspection of the road, they will visit the railway Y. M. C. A. buildings and hospitals, to which the company contributes freely, as part of their welfare work.

President Noonan says that it continues to be the policy of the company to maintain its property and service at as high a point of efficiency as possible, in the belief that business conditions generally will improve later and the railway company will not be found unprepared to promptly handle all traffic offered.

Accidents Decrease
The Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore and Ohio ranks fifth in the sixteen divisions in personal injury reduction for August, 1914, compared with August, 1913, the decrease being 13 per cent. The New Castle division is first with 49 per cent decrease. There were increases of 205 per cent. on the Ohio division, but this does not prevent a reduction of 3 per cent. on the system.

Santa Fe De Luxe begins its fourth season of its extra fare train, the "Santa Fe De Luxe" between Chicago and Los Angeles, will begin January 5. "THE BANK OF SERVICE"

BRUMBAUGH LEADS PLAYS WHICH FOR LIQUOR GANGSTERS

Fenderlein Workers, Strong Arm Men and Penrose Supporters in Philadelphia Smite Whom "Martin" Makes Bid for Votes of Decent People

Four years ago when John E. Penrose was the Penrose and liquor dealer whose forerunners the politicians and holders of Philadelphia were the "limit." They called the prohibition laws, they put "phantoms" values in the machine words; they used the police and forces to intimidate the voters.

At every political meeting the bands played "Hail Hail the Gangs All Here."

Since then times have changed. Penrose has lost the city government of Philadelphia and Mayor Blankenship has taken the police and firemen out of politics. The director of public safety has purged the registration lists. Phantom voters can't be used to stuff the ballot boxes and corrupt independent officials.

Gang Would Be Angry.
Also a change has come over the McNichol and Vane ward workers.

When the Penrose machine and the liquor dealers nominated Martin G. Brumbaugh for governor, the political strong arm workers were told to be "careful."

A few days ago when the Brumbaugh banner was raised in front of the McNichol and Vane office building, the political workers from the "Bloody" Fifth ward, the tenderfoot politicians from McMichael's district, the hoodlums from the river wards and all the gangsters and liquor dealer workers were ordered to line up on Broad street to swell the crowd at the banner raising.

Liquor Men Hated Penrose
It was the most popular political meeting ever held in Philadelphia.

The crowd of political workers were the same old underhanded hoodlums, the same saloon keepers, the same strong arm men from the gang wards, but Mr. Brumbaugh who was glad to have their support was playing a game to the respectable citizens of the city.

While the gang workers looked on, the band played "Sweet Cheatin' Soldiers" and "Come All Ye Faithful." The Penrose and liquor politicians smiled a little at this.

Then the meeting was opened by a mission worker among the dark and outcasts. Letters were read from relatives and from John Brumbaugh who teaches a Sunday school class here in Brumbaugh.

To cap the climax, the words "No politicians" and "No liquor" were shouted from the Brumbaugh banner, when it was being carried across the street.

"Here's a Witness," They Said
The whole lot of the meeting the hymns, the religious speeches, the mission workers' harangues, the letters from missions and the school teachers, read in the face of the crowd of liquor men and political gangsters. Penrose hoodlums, strong arm men from the Brumbaugh wards and representatives of the corrupt elements in corrupt politics were candidates Brumbaugh in, left a bad taste in the mouths of citizens.

The Penrose workers themselves hated the proceedings.
"We give him the vote, and he knows it," one of them said. "We're just a nuisance."

PINCHOT, THE BETTER MAN

When Gifford Pinchot was head of one of the government departments at Washington, employing thousands of men, he organized and put into effect a system of insurance whereby the families of men who were injured or killed at work were protected.

When he found that this was not sufficient he planned into the light for the workmen's compensation act for government employees, and did not cease his efforts until the law was passed.

The thousands of men who now work for the United States government and whose wives and children are protected by the event of death or injury owe much to Gifford Pinchot.

Boles Penrose refused to vote for the workmen's compensation act when it came up at Washington. Upon his influence the political machine in this state defeated the workmen's compensation in the Pennsylvania Legislature. Workmen in this state who are killed or injured are not thoroughly protected.

The voters in Pennsylvania have before them these two men: one Gifford Pinchot, a conscientious and vigorous advocate of all fair and just legislation for workmen, the other, Penrose, a servant of the special interests, who has helped to defeat important legislation needed by workmen.

As between Penrose and Pinchot the working men of Pennsylvania should not hesitate a minute to cast their vote for Pinchot.

MODERN ENGINEERING
TRIUMPH ON B. R. & P.

The effectiveness of modern engineering was emphasized on Tuesday, when the engineer department
of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railway replaced the old bridge
on the Rochester Belt Line which Charlotte boulevard crosses in Rochester, N. Y., with a new 52 foot single span bridge, making the transfer in two hours.

The old bridge, built in 1888, was too small to accommodate the growth of traffic on this branch. The old bridge carried the street and trolley line over a single track while the new span bridge carries street car
tracks and the Buffalo, Rochester
& Pittsburgh railway tracks.

As the last car from Charlotte
passed Tuesday morning at 12:40 A.
M., a big gang of construction men
began tearing down the old structure and then placing the new girder
in place. Within two hours the tracks of the street car company were laid and welded and the Charlotte boulevard once more unobstructed: a job that a few years ago would have compelled the tying up
of the boulevard for days.

Engineering Force Cut.
That portion of the engineering
force of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad which was recently increased at the establishment of the valuation bureau to assist in the valuation of railroads will be the only portion not to suffer in retrenchment program that will cut down the number of engineers November 1.

It is said that the ax will fall principally on the younger men in the service, the assistant civil engineers,
for the most part these regarded as students who have just completed courses in engineering are taking up practical work.

The new bridge is of the through plate girder construction with solid floor of reinforced concrete steel beams. The old bridge was the deck girder span type.

Decision Favors Railroads.
Pittsburgh railroad offices have been informed that the Interstate Commerce Commission has headed down a ruling that a passenger may not leave a train at any point he chooses and then collect a refund on
the whole of the remaining unused portion of the ticket. The decision was made in the case of T. C.
Kennedy, of Chicago, who purchased a ticket from New York City to Chicago on New York Central. He left the train at Syracuse, N. Y., and tried to collect the fare from that place to Chicago. The commission decided that a refund should be made from Chicago, Ind., the first stop for which a ticket can be purchased, and reparation from Chicago to Chicago was awarded.

quite an accident when the horse he was driving took a taking spell and would not say a word. When he neared the station at North Clearfield the horse left the street and started right down the side of the railroad track, taking a vehicle and driver with it. The horse kept the track and they reached Camden avenue before Mr. Wisor could get a proper control. Luckily for him he escaped without injury.

Mrs. George Wisor was a town visitor during the week.

Ben Parks killed a fine porker last week.

WAR MAPS FOR
PROGRESS READERSValuable Aids to Understanding
of European Situation

A HANDSOME PIECE OF WORK

With These Maps the Public Can Tell
at a Glance the Location of the Cities and Towns Where the Fighting Nations are Struggling for Supremacy—How Maps May be Procured.

In keeping with its determination to give the readers of the Progress
the latest and best news of the great European war, the management of this paper has decided to distribute to the public at a nominal cost to the people an official map of the territory in which the big armies of the warring powers are fighting. With the aid of this map the citizen can trace accurately the movements of the armies and discover the scenes
of battles as reported day by day
in the news columns of the Progress.

This map is large, is printed in five colors, with the names and locations of the towns and cities, mountains, rivers and other data necessary
to a complete understanding of the situation in the war zone. The map is as originally made in Europe by the war process, at once expensive and complete, and has been reproduced in this country on copperplate. The type is clear and the places sought by the man who is after information regarding the war are plainly marked. On the back of this map is to be found
the latest and most authentic information regarding the nations now engaged in the conflict.

The Progress has been able to procure a number of these maps for distribution to those who wish to have an intelligent conception of the great events which are happening in Europe. To secure one of these maps
the reader will cut the coupon from another page of this paper and present it, with ten cents, at the counter of the business office of the Progress and one of the maps will be handed to him. As the number of copies of the map which the Progress was able to get is limited it will be well for those who wish copies to call early.

The maps will be sent by mail
either in town or out of town for 12
cents in coin, stamps or money order.
They are really the most valuable
maps of Europe that are in existence,
and will prove a source of profit to those who wish to learn more than they know of the countries across the sea. If you wish to keep posted on the movements of the immense armies in the greatest conflict the world has ever known, get one of these maps at once.

BRUMBAUGH'S VOTE
CAME MOSTLY FROM
CITY LIQUOR WARDS

Dr. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for governor, in his effort to keep the people from believing that he was personally selected by Penrose, McNichol and the Vares, is telling the people of the state that he received his commission to run for governor from the 253,000 voters who instructed for him at the spring primary. It is interesting to ask who these 253,000 gentlemen were and where they lived, and what they stand
for.

By reference to the returns, we find that 85,667 of them lived in the city
of Philadelphia, and that 39 per cent
of these Philadelphia live in legislative districts that voted solidly against local option in the last legislature. Upon further investigation,
we find that of the 253,000 voters who instructed for Dr. Brumbaugh, only 34,768, or less than 14 per cent, lived in the counties which voted solidly
for local option. If Dr. Brumbaugh got his commission to run for governor of the state from these 253,000
voters, his commission looks mighty sloppy. In fact, a comparison of the records shows that it was not different from the commission that was handed to one Boies Penrose to run
for United States senator.

CHARGE THAT SENATOR PENROSE DEBAUCHED FORMER MAYOR REYBURN OF PHILADELPHIA

The direct and circumstantial charge that Senator Boies Penrose himself was personally guilty of putting up money to debauch the late Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia, is made by the North American.

This direct exposure giving dates and places and stating categorically that Penrose was personally mixed up in the scandalous financial intrigues of the Republican leaders of Philadelphia created consternation last week among the machine leaders and workers of Philadelphia.

The editors of the North American charge circumstantially that Senator Penrose with two city contractors debauched the late Mayor Reyburn while he was then magistrate of the city by the payment of sums aggregating $150,000.

The North American recites that in August, 1911, Penrose sought an interview with the editors of that newspaper and told them that Reyburn and Clay, his director of public safety, were bankrupts and corruptionists, and that they had received from contractors, politicians and corporation officials nearly $1,000,000 in cash and other forms of financial aid.

Penrose then sought the help of the North American in defeating William S. Vare, one of the contractor politicians of Philadelphia, who was a candidate for mayor and who was being supported by Reyburn and Clay.

Penrose had brought the Catlin commission to Philadelphia in order to censure the Vare candidacy out of existence. This Catlin commission professed itself ready to hear charges from whatever source concerning the contract irregularities of the politicians of Philadelphia.

Penrose declared to the North American and Attorney General Bell, who was in the conference with the editors, that he himself, along with others would appear before the Catlin commission and give testimony. He gave his "word of honor" that the hearing of the charges would be held and that he would appear as a witness to substantiate by his testimony the facts concerning widespread municipal corruption which he had volunteered to the editors of the paper.

Penrose informed the editors of the North American that Director Clay had lost at least one-half a million dollars in gambling in rapid transit stock. Among other amounts given to Reyburn and Clay by politicians he specified a large sum—$188,000—which he said Reyburn had received in cash from certain interests. Almost immediately thereafter he said that two or three persons who provided it were contractors—city contractors, who had received facts from the mayor.

"And then without further urging, he said that one of the two was Vare and the other McNichol," says the North American expose.

Penrose Confirms Himself. "Just here the senator related with great gusto an incident which seemed to afford him the richest amusement. William S. Vare, he said, personally paid $5,000 cash to Reyburn, and then came 'strutting' before Penrose and others, 'with his chest sticking out like a pouter pigeon's,' so proud was he of his success in actually having passed the money into the mayor's hand—the first time he had experienced that personal triumph of diplomacy.

"Senator Penrose was in a position to appreciate the exquisite humor of Vare's pride in his achievement, since he knew that McNichol and Israel W. Durham had passed cash over to Reyburn before he was elected mayor. "Thus we had the voluntary, explicit avowals of Senator Penrose, made before witnesses, that Reyburn and Clay had been debauched by Vare, McNichol, Durham and others. He asked us impressively what we supposed would be the effect of publication of these facts upon the mayor and the director.

"We said that if the facts were properly supported and were capable of legal proof, it would destroy the two officials; otherwise, of course, the publication would destroy The North American. And we inquired what substantiation we could count upon. "Why," said Senator Penrose, "I would stand behind you."

"How?" we inquired. "I'll appear as a witness," said the senator. "As a witness to what?" we insisted. "Well," said the senator, in a final burst of candor, "I was one of the three who supplied the $188,000. I put up one-third of the money."

"Then the senator explained he felt it necessary for the sake of the party, to pay $188,000. Put Up. "After having unburdened himself of this vital acknowledgment—that the $188,000 corruption fund was raised by himself and McNichol and Vare—Senator Penrose readily gave us further details.

"He said the money was raised jointly, and paid to the mayor—after the $5,000 passed over by Vare—through Fred Wagner, a confidential bookkeeper in the office of Wolf Brothers.

"Then he described with graphic humor the ceaseless importunities of

Reyburn—how he would pursue the members of the corruption syndicate with messages by letter and telegram and telephone; how his demands became so enormous that they were compelled to pay him sums just large enough to keep him quiet—$5,000 when he asked for $10,000, $10,000 when he asked for $20,000, and so on. "Very likely," he remarked, with solemn sarcasm, "you will find that the payments were most liberal just before contracts were to be handed out at city hall."

"Such was the startling budget of news that we took to our legal adviser, after receiving the senator's assurance that he would tap all his sources of information for evidence to corroborate the charges with which he had furnished us.

"It was from Senator Penrose, then, that we first learned that Reyburn and Clay, bankrupts, had been debauched by contractors, politicians and corporation officers.

"It was from Senator Penrose that we learned that William S. Vare had personally handed cash to Reyburn, and that Edwin H. Vare had 'fixed' the mayor by purchasing worthless bonds from him.

"Senator Penrose it was who informed us that Clarence Wolf had given Reyburn at least $100,000. "It was he who related to us how President McCall and the Philadelphia electric interests backed Clay's stock-gambling account; how John B. Parsons and George D. Widener had endorsed Clay's paper and had had to pay $100,000.

It was Senator Penrose who disclosed to us the fact that the joint account recording the debauchery of Reyburn was kept in the office of Wolf Brothers by a confidential bookkeeper.

"And it was Senator Penrose who made known to us the fact that Vare and McNichol were two of three men who raised $188,000 to bribe Reyburn, admitting, finally, that he himself was the third member of the syndicate of corruption."

"Word of Honor" Didn't Stand. In spite of Penrose's "word of honor" the North American charges that 48 hours before the time set for the hearing before the Catlin commission, rumors were circulated that Senator Penrose was going to adjourn his Catlin commission.

"We were actually getting ready to proceed to the hearing room, when word came that the commission had adjourned," says a North American, "and from that day to this, it has never been reconvened. We soon learned that Senator Penrose had ordered his commission to decamp."

MT. CARMEL SPEAKER LIKENS PENROSE TO SAVIOR OF MANKIND

The following is part of the unprinted report of the Penrose meeting at Mt. Carmel on Saturday afternoon, taken from the Mt. Carmel Item.

"Judge Walter, who introduced Penrose to the crowd, declared that the senator is one of the worst malignant and most shamelessly abused men in history. He likened Penrose to Socrates, who had to drink the poisoned cup; to Jesus Christ, who was betrayed and crucified; and to Abraham Lincoln, the martyred President. Penrose was presented in a new light that of the vilified public servant, of the martyr, of the supporter of religion and contributor to foreign missions.

"Penrose himself was visibly affected by the great and glorious tribute paid him by the judge, and was so thoroughly pleased by learning of these new things that Mr. Walter has been virtue to his corps of stumblers. Thus virtue hath her own reward.

"In the course of his remarks he read a letter from Senator Penrose to Miss Fannie Derr, formerly of Lewisburg, now a resident of Mount Carmel, in which the senator inclosed a check for foreign missions. The letter which was dated September 29, 1907, read:

"Dear Madam:—I have your letter of the 22nd inst., and take pleasure in inclosing herewith my check as a contribution to foreign missions. I hope the time is not far distant when the Word of God will be preached to the ends of the earth. Hoping that success may crown your efforts, I am respectfully yours."

NOTE—And this is the man whom the liquor associations are boosting for senator, and for whose defeat the organized churches are working and praying. There is something wrong somewhere. Something has happened to somebody since that ancient epistle was written. Seven years is a long period—a biblical period, by the way—and drink has accomplished many a man's undoing in less time than that.

Alas, Poor Penrose.

Comparisons were ever odious.

CARLISLE FOOTBALL TEAM
SURPRISE TO DOPERS

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

(Special to Progress.)

New York, Oct. 30.—"What's the matter with Carlisle?" is the big football question of the year, and even Glen Warner, the great coach of the Indian Eleven, seems unable to make answer.

Not in years has any Carlisle team made as poor an early season showing as has Warner's 1914 outfit. Carlisle always has had a team that took rank with the greatest in the country. The Carlisle teams of the past, crushed the smaller colleges and often played to a standstill, or went farther and gave them a beating.

But this year it is different. Carlisle was beaten soundly in more of its first six games, and against the type of foe that Carlisle would have considered "easy meat" in the other years. In its first six games, Carlisle has scored only 42 points—average of only one touchdown an hour.

The Carlisle team of 1913 scored almost as many points against the great Dartmouth eleven in one game as has the 1914 eleven in six games this year against foes that are considered weaklings in comparison with Dartmouth.

The strangest part of the Carlisle reversal is the fact that the Carlisle team of 1914 at the outset of the season looked to be just about as good as the 1913 eleven.

Pugilistic champions pay just about as much attention to weight limits as the Federal league does to Dan Johnson's threat.

The bantam limit is 118. Kid Williams no longer will agree to weigh at that figure. About 120 or 121 is new to him. And more within his possibilities.

Johnny Kulkars, the featherweight champ, won't step into the ring under 128 although the limit is 122. Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, won't go 133 ringside, the prescribed limit. Willie Ritchie, lightweight champ of the year, and Francis U. S. A. makes 135 and no less.

Mike Gibbons, the acknowledged welterweight champion, won't submit to weighing in at ringside. He'll charge 25 cents entrance each to 145 at 3 P. M.—and then gain about 5 pounds between that time and the hour set for the fight.

The middleweight limit is 155. Field

George Chip, leading claimant for the title of that division, will make 158 at 5 P. M. but he won't make it at ringside. His ringside weight is 160—and over.

The winter leaguers already have "eaten" Ben Shibe from his nice cozy job as president of the Athletics and have given the job to Clement Mack. They appointed Harry Davis manager in place of Mack. This will prove a surprise to the Athletic officials, but they must be prepared for surprises in the off season.

One of the golf Commandments is "Thou shalt not kill thy caddy." It is calling the size of some of the "boys" who have caddied for us, we think that section ought to read "Thou shalt not sass thy caddy."

Dear Mr. Menke:
I am thinking of taking up golf and would like to know its benefits. What does it teach you?
Anxious Reader

Profanity.

Here is another letter:
"Who has the baseball record for putouts in one fine lining major league game?"

A. R. Whalen.
Bill Klein holds the record. He made 25 putouts in a game between the Giants and Braves in New York, about 4 weeks ago.

Someone on the Giant bench yelled "Catfish" at Bill. Not knowing which of the 25 rookies and regulars on the Giant bench had applied the hoted name to him, Bill took no chances. He ordered the entire gang out of the field. Bill, therefore, is credited with 25 putouts—and he made them all in a single inning.

GOOD GAME PROMISED

AT THE PARK TOMORROW

The football game tomorrow afternoon at the Driving park, between the Clearfield and Huntington high schools, will undoubtedly be the best game that has been played here this season. The local team has been playing fast, clean ball all season and has defeated every team it has met except Indiana Normal. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock and the admission is 25 cents entrance each. The game will be played on a new bleacher, from where an excellent view may be had of the entire playing field.

$4,800 For
A $6,500 Home

This is one of the best opportunities ever offered in Clearfield.

The property is located in the very best residential section of Clearfield. The house has 13 rooms with every modern convenience, including electric light, gas, hot water heating system, open fire place, and is finished in hard wood.

If you were to build now you could not duplicate this property for $2000. It is delightfully arranged and comfortable, and is an ideal home.

My business interests are elsewhere so for 60 days, I have decided to consider offers at the sacrifice price of $4,800.

If you want a home that will prove an investment and a delight, write to me.

Hospital Campaign Extended

Closing Monday Night, November 2nd.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, and to the fact that the solicitors are personally busy men, we find it necessary to extend this campaign until Monday night in order to thoroughly canvass the town and county. This will give all localities an opportunity to bear their share of the burden

A Suggestion From The Committee:
To those who have not been called upon we respectfully urge that they send their subscription to George T. Bigler, Treasurer.

which he set forth that appeared religious meetings of any kind would be permitted, allowed him his freedom.

"Returning to the corner, the speaker again opened his address claiming the right of speech. However, it was soon evident that the man would be arrested a second time, and accordingly arrangements were made for the accommodation of the speaker and his audience in a nearby theatre.

"Attorney Kintner paid his respects to the judicial authorities and subsequently delivered an address based on the Socialistic platform.

OBITUARY

Frank Roth, a young man of Troutville, died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of his father, C. W. Roth, on Tremont.

The deceased had been a sufferer from tuberculosis for some time, which disease caused his death. He was a Spanish-American war veteran and was aged 28 years. Surviving him are his father and mother, three brothers and one sister, Mrs. Lillian Roth, of DuBois.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Burial will probably be made on Sunday afternoon.

Church Bazaar

The Ladies Aid society of Trinity M. E. church will hold a bazaar in parlors of the church on Thursday, November 5, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Everybody is invited.

party in a manner which led their hearers to infer that the party needed something to say a good word for it.

The lack of enthusiasm which greeted the words of these speakers must have convinced them that it would have been better for them had they confined their remarks to the European war, the apple market or something of the kind.

A. H. Woodward, Esq., who is really a gifted orator, was not at his best last night, the subject of Penroseism being a difficult one for him to handle.

Mr. Woodward finally swallowed Penrose, but it was a difficult task for him.

Near the close of Mr. Woodward's remarks he said: "They say that Boies Penrose drinks whiskey. They say that Boies Penrose represents the liquor interests. Now, men, what difference does it make to you and me if Penrose does drink whiskey? What difference if Penrose is allied with the liquor interests? What we need is a man competent and capable."

"If you are going to build a house do you go out and inquire if the carpenter or that drinks whiskey or do you inquire if he is a good workman? During war days, when some one informed President Lincoln that General Grant was drinking what did Lincoln say? He said: 'You show me the brand of whiskey that Grant drinks and I will buy a thousand barrels of it for my men? I say, the Anti-Saloon league has no right to indorse one candidate over another.'"

Statements of the speakers against the state government and the part Penrose and the Republican party has taken in that government were perfunctorily applauded, after the handclapping had been started on the stage.

The assertion that Pennsylvania is the only state in the union out of debt caused some of the people present to mentally remind themselves that if the gangsters had not robbed the state of $9,000,000 in the furnishing of the state capitol, Pennsylvania would today be in much better financial condition.

Also, some of the audience could not help wondering if the state would now be out of debt if the grafters had not been compelled to refund $3,000,000 of the stolen money.

A peculiar feature of the meeting was the fact that the local Republican ticket was not mentioned, either in a commendatory or an apologetic manner.

Nation and state received attention, but the candidates for office from this county and the districts were ignored or forgotten.

Altogether the meeting was typical of Republican meetings held in this state this year.

Gloom pervaded the house. Live issues were not touched upon, praise was given Republicans who if living today, would not touch Penrose with a ten-foot pole, and oratory smothered argument.

Many of those present last evening left the opera house with pity in their hearts for the condition of the remnant of the great old Republican party which now finds itself in the grasp of Penrose, the unspeakable boss.

TURKS CAST FORTUNES WITH GERMANY

REVOLT AGAINST PENROSE IS NOW IN FULL SWING

300,000 Persons Made to See Evils of Penroseism

By Col. Roosevelt

BOSS LASHED FOR EMMITY TO LABOR

Colonel Declares That Gifford Pinchot Will Win Next Tuesday—Shows That Penrose has Been Antagonistic to Widows and Orphans of Pennsylvania—Penrose Prosperity is For the Beneficiaries of Special Privilege, Not for the People—Pinchot Stands for a Square Deal and for Honest Prosperity.

"We are going to put this thing through. We are going to win the Pennsylvania fight next Tuesday." With these words, Colonel Roosevelt yesterday concluded his 1400-mile trip through Pennsylvania in behalf of Gifford Pinchot, Vance C. McCormick and the whole Washington party ticket.

"I am more pleased than I can say with the trip," said Colonel Roosevelt in summing up his impression of the journey and of the 300,000 voters he has met in the last four days. "I am pleased not only on account of the enthusiasm and size of the audiences, but on account of the clearness with which the issues are understood by the working men, the business men in the towns, big and little, and the farmers.

Penrose Prosperity Vicious

"They understand clearly that this is a fight for decency against forces of corruption and misrule. They understand that the kind of prosperity which Penrose promises is the kind of prosperity which comes to wide open cities under red light mayors. "They are against that kind of prosperity, first, because it is vicious and, second, because it is really not prosperity at all.

Pinchot for Square Deal

"They know that Gifford Pinchot stands for the square deal and for honest prosperity that through wise and honest government will be permanently secured to all honest and hard-working men."

Colonel Roosevelt throughout his trip has referred to Doctor Brumbaugh as the "woolly little lamb led by the three seiled children of Pennsylvania politics, Penrose, McNichol and Vane."

Colonel Roosevelt's rough riding over Penrose and Brumbaugh came to a close in the state capital, the home town of Vance C. McCormick, the fusion candidate for governor.

Set an Evil Example

After taking to task supposed respectable people supporting Penrose, for "the evil example they set in their communities," Colonel Roosevelt called on all decent citizens to "fouche not the unclean thing, for no man can touch the unclean without becoming befouled himself."

Then the colonel moved his big Harrisburg audience to emotion when in one of his most forcible appeals to all working men to line up against Penrose and Brumbaugh he said:

"Every vote cast for Penrose is a vote cast against the widows and orphans of Pennsylvania working men."

Warships of the Porte Demand Surrender of City But Sails Away

GERMANS RESUME OFFENSIVE IN CONFLICT

Vigorous Attacks All Along the Line From the Vosges to the North Sea in An Effort to Find a Weak Spot in the Line of the Allies—Most Fighting is in Progress in Northern France, Especially in the Vicinity of Lille; Where the Germans are Using the Wedge Formation in Attempt to Open the Way to Dunkirk and Calais.

(By International News Service)
London, Oct. 30.—Entrance of Turkey into the European war was heralded yesterday by the bombardment of Theodosia, a Russian port in Crimea, by a Turkish cruiser.

A demand for the surrender of Novorossiysk, another Russian Black sea port, was made by a second cruiser. The Turkish warship sailed away without carrying out its threat of bombardment.

The Russian ambassador at Constantinople has withdrawn because of Turkish attacks on Russian forts. Instructions have been forwarded to Russian consuls to leave Turkey.

Sensation in Petrograd

Petrograd, Oct. 30.—The announcement by the press that Turkey began war on Russia caused a tremendous sensation here. Thousands of Russians paraded through the streets to the embassy of the allies and cheered for the envoys, who appeared on the balconies and made speeches to the crowds.

The crowds made a demonstration before the Turkish embassy, but a heavy guard was stationed around it and no violence was attempted.

Farrat Effendi Bey, charge d'affaires from Turkey, was dining when news reached him and was greatly surprised. He declared he would not credit the report until officially informed.

German Resume Offensive

Paris, Oct. 30.—Germans are resuming the offensive along the line from the North sea to the Vosges, striking vigorously in an effort to find a weak spot on the allies' line.

Hard fighting has developed in northern France, especially in the vicinity of Lille and Arras, where the Germans are using wedge tactics in an attempt to open a way to Dunkirk and Calais.

German Troops Flooded

It was officially stated today: "On the extreme left flank, spread by the Belgian army, who opened the dykes, in the lower valley of the Yser river, have compelled the Germans occupying positions across that river to retreat, with the French and Belgians shelling them."

"The Germans yesterday attempted three violent counterattacks on the French and British corps advancing to the northeast of Yser."

British in the Offensive

At the end of the day our troops continued their forward movement in the direction assigned and took several points of support. The British, attacked at several points to the north of La Bassee by superior forces, have retaken an energetic offensive, regaining in large measure the ground taken by the enemy. On the right of the battle front there is no general action, but partial offensive movements on both sides."

I. J. KINTNER ARRESTED BY SHAMOKIN POLICE

The Sunbury Daily Item publishes the following in reference to Attorney J. J. Kintner, of Lock Haven, a prominent Socialist and a recent candidate for the judgeship in Blair and Clearfield counties, who has a law office in this county:

"Considerable excitement prevailed in Independence street, Shamokin, Sunday, when Attorney J. J. Kintner, of Lock Haven, appearing there under the auspices of the Socialists, launched into a public Socialist address. Persons who were in the vicinity at the time were informed that Attorney Kintner was making a political speech and had been invited to the scene. The speaker was informed that political addresses were not allowed on the streets of Shamokin on the Sabbath and was asked to desist. However, he persisted in talking and was placed under arrest and taken to the council chamber. Burgess Drumheller was there and after acquainting the barrister with the municipal law, in (Continued on Page Eight)

About 175 students were present at the masquerade party given at the high school last evening by the Senior class for the benefit of the athletic association. The masqueraders were dressed in a great variety of costumes, and most of them were disguised so that even their best friends did not know them.

Two Victrolas, one on each floor, furnished music for games and dancing and the evening was passed in an enjoyable manner. Refreshments were served. The big literary event of the evening was a political speech made by Millard Phillips and greatly appreciated by his audience.

PRETTY WEDDING OCCURS LAST NIGHT

Miss Evelyn E. Letzinger Becomes Bride of Lewis M. Sykes

A DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL EVENT

After a Wedding Supper the Bride and Groom Leave on a Honeymoon Trip Through East, and Upon Their Return They Will Reside on Fifth Street; Popular Young People.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place last evening at six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Market street when Miss Evelyn Elizabeth Letzinger was united in marriage with Lewis Blair Sykes, Father Ryan officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties.

The house was attractively decorated in green foliage, white wedding bells and yellow caryanthems. As Wagner's wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played the wedding procession, led by John Letzinger, Jr., and Miss Frances Usher, the ribbon bearers, came in and took their places underneath a shower of green foliage and white wedding bells. Miss Letzinger was the flower girl and Miss Mary Zimmerman maid of honor. The bride was dressed in a gown of white with a train and lace and carried yellow caryanthems. The bride who was given away by her father, John Letzinger, Sr., wore a white dress of tulle and lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Sykes left in an automobile for Tyrone, from where they will visit eastern cities for ten days, immediately after the wedding supper. Upon their return they will reside on Fifth street.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and valuable gifts. Mr. Sykes is employed at the County national bank and has many friends. Mrs. Sykes is a young lady who has been very popular in the young social set of Clearfield, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Letzinger.

The out of town guests were: Miss Agnes Anderson, of Oil City; Mrs. Cohen Rogers, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Murray, of Reynoldsville; Mr. and Mrs. Law Sykes, of Ridgway, and Mrs. James A. Gleason, of DuBois.

HOW TO MARK YOUR TICKET AT ELECTION ON TUESDAY

The voter who wishes to record his disapproval of Penroseism by voting the Washington party ticket next Tuesday may make a mark in the square at the right of the column of the ballot thus:

WASHINGTON X

The voter will mark the voter's name for candidates for superior court, but most of the mark opposite the name of the judicial candidate he prefers.

To Get Election Returns

There will be a meeting to make arrangements for election day tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Board Ward High School.

Women's Club is a good body to elect men to the Legislature, who could speak in support of good legislation as well as vote for it. Earle G. Boone will do both. Vote for him.

REPUBLICANS HOLD A MEETING

Two Pittsburgers Tell Tales of Woe, but Forget That There is a Local Republican Ticket in the Field—Penroseism a Tough Dose to Swallow.

The Republican meeting held in the opera house last evening was notable for several things. In the first place the silver tongued orators who had been expected to be present and after apologies for Penroseism failed to materialize. In the second place, the speakers who discussed political questions appeared to be tongue-tied when it came to dilating on the chief issues of the campaign. In the third place, the audience appeared to be in the clasp of Old Gloom, and enthusiasm was conspicuous by its absence. In the fourth place, the most enjoyable part of the program was the musical numbers played by the local Italian band.

Collins and Crago Absent

Emerson Collins, of Williamsport, was unavoidably absent, as was also Candidate for Congress-at-large Crago, hence Penrose machine headquarters in Pittsburg was levied upon for two speakers, responding by sending Hamilton Garland, a giant of flesh and Harold Irons, a pigmy, physically and mentally, and these gentlemen performed the embarrassing task before them with the best of their ability.

Irons paid his respects to Colonel Roosevelt, reminding some of those in the audience of a bantam rooster siding up to a game cock. Both these orators praised the Republican

In no other town in this section do the people have the opportunity to see such first class high school football games as do they here. The standard of athletics here is also higher than in most places absolutely no student being permitted to play in a game who is not a bona fide student maintaining a passing grade in his studies. The right with which this rule is applied was demonstrated at the game last week when two of the first string players who were in town on the day line were not allowed to enter the game. Encourage the team by attending the game with Huntington at the Driving park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

J. A. SCHLICHTER AT OPERA HOUSE SUNDAY

J. Arthur Schlichter, of Philadelphia, will be the speaker at the men's meeting in the opera house on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Schlichter will give the story of his life, which is very thrilling, and it is wonderful how this man was ever left to tell what he does. This will be the best lecture that will be given in Clearfield this season, and you cannot afford to miss it. Every man who hears Mr. Schlichter will never forget the occasion. All men are invited.

The Million Dollar Mystery

"Now what, my child?" asked the sailor.

She shook her head. Her aversion was inexplicable.

"Come, my dear; can't you see that it is your father?" Braine turned to the captain. "She has been like this for a year. Heaven knows if she'll ever be in her right mind again," sadly. "I was giving her an ocean voyage, with the kindest nurses possible, and yet she jumped overboard. Come, Florence."

The girl wrapped her arms about the sailor around Braine's neck.

An idea came into the old sailor's head. "Of course, sir, you've got proof that she's your daughter?"

"Proof?" Braine was taken aback. "Yes, something to prove that she is my daughter. I got skinned out of a sleep once because I took a black and white, and on paper, says I, hereafter."

"But I never thought of such a thing," protested Braine, beginning to lose his patience. "I can't risk sending to New York for documents like my daughter, and you will find it will not pay to take this peculiar stand."

"In black and white, 'r' y' can't have her."

Braine thereupon rushed forward to seize Florence. Braine swung Florence behind him.

"I guess she'll stay here a little longer, sir."

Time was vital, and this obstinacy

"Girl, I Love You Better Than Life," made Braine furious. He reached again for Florence.

"Clear out of here, 'r' show your authority," growled Braine.

"She goes with me, or you'll regret it."

"All right. But I guess the law won't hurt me none. I'm in my rights. There's the door, mister."

"I refuse to go without her!"

Braine sighed. He was on land a man of peace, but there was a limit to his patience. He seized Braine by the shoulders and hustled him out of the house.

"Bring your proofs, mister, and nothing more'll be said; but till you bring 'em, keep away from this cottage."

And, simple-minded sailor that he was, he thought this settled the matter.

That night he kept his ears open for unusual sounds, but he merely wasted his night's rest. Quite naturally, he reckoned that the stranger would make his attempt at night. Indeed, he made it in broad daylight, with Braine not a hundred yards away, talking a dory whose seams had sprung apart. Braine had Florence upon the chartered yacht before the old man realized what had happened. He never saw Florence again, but one day, months later, he read all about her in a newspaper.

Florence fought, but she was weak, and so the conquest was easy. Braine was kind enough, now that he had her safe. He talked to her, but she merely stared at the receding coast.

"All right; don't talk if you don't want to. Here," to one of the men, "take her to the cabin and keep her there. But don't you touch her. I'll break you if you do. Put her in the cabin and guard the door, at least keep an eye on it. She may take it into her head to jump overboard."

Even the temporarily demented are not without a species of cunning. Florence had never seen Braine until he appeared at the Barnes cottage. Yet she revolted at the touch of his hand. On the second day out toward New York, she found a box of matches and it was set fire to her cabin, valued out into the corridor and thence to the deck. When the fire was at its height, she had a much head up to the sea, and she was rescued by a boat from the coast and on a day drifted helplessly.

Fate has ever been a cruel and capricious deity. You move a pawn and bring down a king. Braine's cunning had been his ruin. He had lost his daughter, and he had lost his life.

As he folded the telegram and put it into his pocket, he observed the man with the opera glasses over the way. He shrugged. Well, let him watch till his eyes dropped out of his head, he would see only that which was intended for his eyes. Still, it was irksome to feel that no matter when or where you moved, watching eyes observed and chronicled these movements.

Suddenly, not being devoid of a sense of dry humor, Jones stepped over to the telephone and called up her highness the Princess Perigot.

"Who is it?"

He was forced to admit, however reluctantly, that the woman had a marvelously fine speaking voice.

"It is Jones, madam."

"Jones?"

"Mr. Hargreave's butler, madam."

"O! You have news of Florence?"

"Yes." It will be an embarrassing day for humanity when some one invents a photographic apparatus by which two persons at the two ends of the telephone may observe the facial expressions of each other.

"What is it? Tell me quickly."

"Florence has been found, and she is on her way back to New York. She was found by Mr. Norton, the reporter."

"I am so glad! Shall I come up at once and have you tell me the whole amazing story?"

"It would be useless, madam, for I know nothing except what I learned from a telegram I have just received. But no doubt some time this evening you might risk a call."

"Ring up the instant she returns. Did she say what train?"

"No, madam," hed Jones, smiling.

He hung up the receiver and stared at the telephone as if he would force his gaze in and through it to the woman at the other end. Flesh and blood! Well, greed was stronger than that. Treacherous cat! Let her play! let her weave her nets, dig her pits! The day would come, and it was not far distant, when she would find that the mild-eyed mongroos was just as deadly as the cobra, and far more cunning.

The heads of the Black Hundred must be destroyed. Those were the orders. What good to denounce them, to send them to a prison from which, with the aid of money and a tremendous secret political pull, they might readily find their way out? They must be exterminated, as one kills off the poisonous plague rats of the Orient. A woman! In the law of reprisal there was no sex.

Shortly after the telephone episode (which rather puzzled the princess) she received a wire from Dr. Braine, which announced the fact that Florence and she had escaped and were coming to New York on train No. 25, and advised her to meet the train en route. She had to fly about to do it.

Some temperance folks are supporting him on the strength of his pledge, but we submit that if he is elected governor, it would be absolutely necessary for him to double cross either the honor men to whom he will owe his election or to those temperance advocates who have supported him on his word that he would work for and secure a local option bill!—American Issue.

CHAPTER XI.

When Jones received the telegram that Florence was safe, the iron nerve of the man broke down. The suspense had been so keenly terrible that the sudden reaction left him almost hysterically weak. Three weeks of waiting, waiting. Not even the scoundrel and his wife who had been the principal actors in the abduction had been found. From a great ship in midocean they had disappeared. Doubtless they had hidden among the immigrants, who, for money, would have foiled all officers on board. There was no doubt in Jones' mind that the pair had landed safely at Madrid.

As for Susan, she did have hysterics. She went about the room, wailing and laughing and wringing her hands. You would have thought by her actions that Florence had just died. The sight of her stirred the saturnal lips of the butler into a smile. But he did not remonstrate with her. In fact, he rather envied her freedom in emotion. Man cannot let go in that fashion, it is a sign of weakness; and he dared not let even Susan see any sign of weakness in him.

So the reporter had found her, and she was safe and sound and on her way to New York. Knowing by this time something of the reporter's courage, he was eager to learn how the event had come about. When he had not had a telephone message from Norton in 48 hours, he had decided that the Black Hundred had finally succeeded in getting hold of him. It had been something of a blow, for while he looked with disfavor upon the reporter's frank regard for his charge, he appreciated the fact that Norton was a staff to lean on, and had behind him all the power of the press, which included the privilege of going everywhere even if one could not at ways get back.

As he folded the telegram and put it into his pocket, he observed the

man with the opera glasses over the way. He shrugged. Well, let him watch till his eyes dropped out of his head, he would see only that which was intended for his eyes. Still, it was irksome to feel that no matter when or where you moved, watching eyes observed and chronicled these movements.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation and is very prominent at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse. Use again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs while then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

WHY PINCHOT WILL WIN

The solid Washington Party vote is behind him. 200,000 members of church and good government leagues, representing all political parties, have unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

Anti-saloon forces throughout the state in convention at Harrisburg overwhelmingly endorsed Pinchot.

National Republicans such as Harry L. Stimson, Secretary of War under President Taft; Herbert Knox Smith, formerly United States Commissioner of Corporations; Congressman William Kent of California, Lawrence O. Murray, Controller of the Currency for five years; Herbert Parsons of New York and other leaders have called on the Republicans of Pennsylvania for the sake of their own party to defeat Penrose and elect Gifford Pinchot.

Powerful Republican newspapers, such as the New York Tribune, the historic mouthpiece of the Republican party, call on the Republicans of Pennsylvania for their party's sake to defeat Penrose and elect Pinchot.

Leading National Democrats, such as Herbert Quick, leader of the Country Life movement; Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, head of the Pure Food movement; Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Union, an organization of 3,000,000 farmers, and Herbert S. Bigelow have endorsed Pinchot, and declared that he is the one man who should be elected United States Senator from Pennsylvania.

GIFFORD PINCHOT
Washington Party Candidate for U. S. Senator.

Labor leaders endorse Pinchot. In the western part of the state James H. Maurer, president of the State Federation of Labor, spoke from the platform with Pinchot.

Representative citizens of Huntingdon and other counties unanimously endorsed Pinchot and asked Palmer to withdraw.

The annual convention of the Epworth League of the Northwestern district of Pennsylvania, meeting at Norristown, unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

The East Pennsylvania conference of the United Brethren church unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

The Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association gives Pinchot great ovation and hails him as "Our next Senator."

The Pittsburgh M. E. conference unanimously endorsed Pinchot.

The East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran church endorses Pinchot.

County good government leagues, county ministerial associations, county local option leagues, county anti-saloon leagues, county "Bully" Sunday associations, have endorsed Pinchot all over the state.

THE WEAKNESS OF MR. PALMER

Palmer cannot even poll the full Democratic votes. The Donnelly-Ryan "Old Guard" Democrats of Philadelphia are for Penrose.

The Duffy "Old Guard" Democrats of Pittsburgh are against Palmer and for Penrose.

The Old Guard Democrats of the coal regions have repudiated Palmer's leadership and will stand with the Donnelly-Ryan crowd of Philadelphia against Palmer.

The J. K. P. Hall "Old Guard" Democrats of Elk county are against Palmer.

The good government forces of the state in convention at Harrisburg have asked Palmer to quit the race because Pinchot is the stronger man.

Voters allied with good government leagues, anti-saloon leagues, church associations and other good government forces have joined their state body in asking Palmer to quit in favor of Gifford Pinchot, who is a stronger man.

Voters of Warren county, Philadelphia county, Huntingdon county, and other counties who want to see Penrose beaten, have adopted resolutions asking Palmer to quit, so that all the forces of good government can center on Gifford Pinchot and make the defeat of Penrose absolutely sure.

Hon. A. S. Moulthrop

Candidate For State Senate

Nominated By The Washington and Prohibition Parties

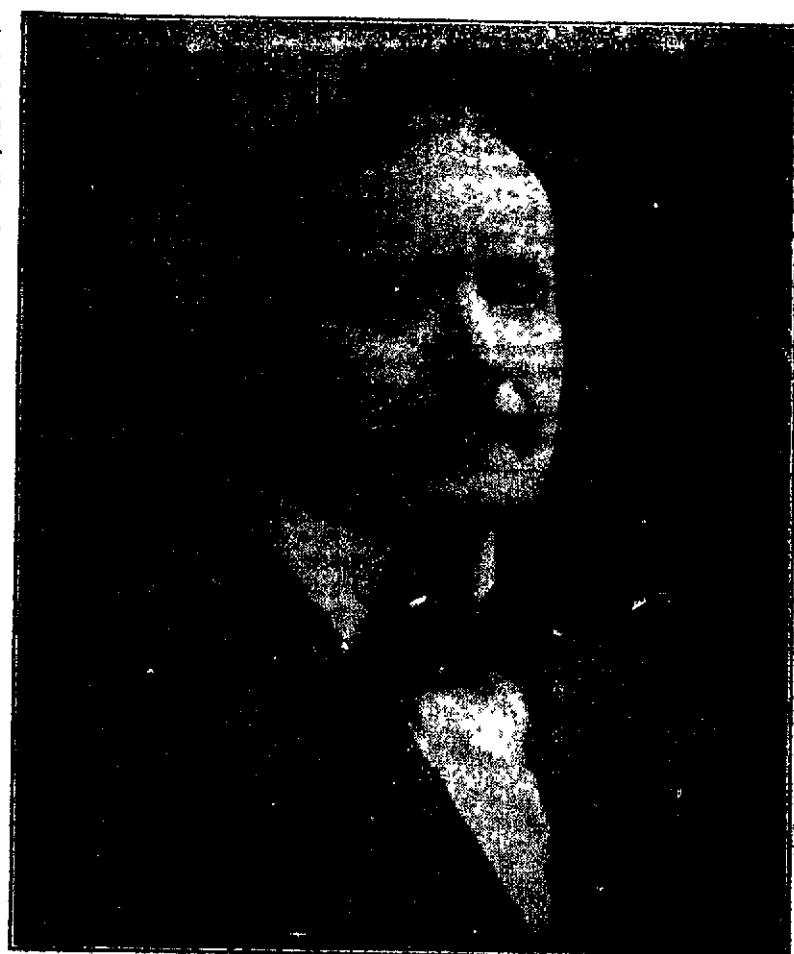

Hon. Alonzo S. Moulthrop, candidate for state senator on the Washington and Prohibition tickets, is a young man who has already made his mark in the state. As a member of the state house of representatives for four terms he so ably represented his constituents that they persuaded him to become their candidate for the state senate, believing that his qualifications were such as to fit him for the position.

As a member of the lower house Mr. Moulthrop aided very materially in cleaning up that branch of the law-making power of the state, and his friends believe that as a member of the senate he would be of great assistance in purging the upper body of the legislature of some of the unpopular methods by which the will of the people is defied.

Mr. Moulthrop stands on a platform of principles the chief planks of which are: A workman's compensation law, a child labor law; woman's suffrage; minimum wage scale for women; local option; state and national prohibition; fair union labor. With this platform as a basis for his candidacy Mr. Moulthrop believes he is entitled to the support of the voters of the district.

The activities of Mr. Moulthrop in behalf of the people have been such as to commend him to the voters of all political parties. One of the labors performed by Mr. Moulthrop has saved the county of Clearfield $30,000 in the past eight years—that of bringing about the repeal of the act of assembly providing for the payment of a percentage to the treasurer for handling county funds.

Even Mr. Moulthrop's opponents agree that he will receive at least 1000 votes in DuBois, which gives him an excellent start in the district. He is very popular among the people who favor good government, and will receive the votes of many members of the Republican and Democratic parties in addition to the full vote of the Washington and Prohibition parties.

Mr. Moulthrop, as a member of the legislature, was a loyal supporter of State college, helping by his voice and vote in securing for the college the appropriations needed to increase the efficiency of the institution and taking great interest in its growth and prosperity.

SEMI-ANNUAL INSPECTION OF THE B. & P. LINES

William T. Noonan, president, and the board of directors of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway, left Rochester Tuesday morning on their semi-annual inspection of the railway property and will cover the entire main line from Rochester and Buffalo to Pittsburgh and New Castle, together with the branches and main lines, consuming the entire week in this work.

In addition to the inspection of the road, they will visit the railway Y. M. C. A. buildings and hospitals, to which the company contributes freely, as part of their welfare work.

President Noonan says that it continues to be the policy of the company to maintain its property and service at as high a point of efficiency as possible, in the belief that business conditions generally will improve later and the railway company will not be found unprepared to promptly handle all traffic offered.

Accidents Decrease
The Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore and Ohio ranks fifth in the sixteen divisions in personal injury reduction for August, 1914, compared with August, 1913, the decrease being 13 per cent. The New Castle division is first with 49 per cent decrease. There were increases of 205 per cent. on the Ohio division, but this does not prevent a reduction of 3 per cent. on the system.

BRUMBAUGH LEADS PLAYS WHICH FOR LIQUOR GANGSTERS

Fenderlein Workers, Strong Arm Men and Penrose Supporters in Philadelphia Smite Whom "Martin" Makes Bid for Votes of Decent People

Four years ago when John E. Penrose was the Penrose and liquor dealer who for years has been the mainstay of Philadelphia's "liquor" men, they put "phantom" votes in the machine wards; they used the police and firemen to intimidate the voters.

At every political meeting the bands played "Hail Hail the Gangs All Here."

Since then times have changed. Penrose has lost the city government of Philadelphia and Mayor Blankenship has taken the police and firemen out of politics. The director of public safety has purged the registration lists. Phantom votes can't be used to stuff the ballot boxes and corrupt independent officials.

Gang Would Be Angry
Also a change has come over the McNichol and Vane ward workers.

When the Penrose machine and the liquor dealers nominated Martin G. Brumbaugh for governor, the political strong arm workers were told to be "careful."

A few days ago when the Brumbaugh banner was raised in front of the McNichol and Vane office building, the political workers from the "Bloody" Fifth ward, the tenderfoot politicians from McMichael's district, the hoodlums from the river wards and all the gangsters and liquor dealer workers were ordered to line up on Broad street to swell the crowd at the banner raising.

Liquor Men Have Myriad
It was the most popular political meeting ever held in Philadelphia.

The crowd of political workers were the same old familiar hoodlums, the same strong arm men from the gang wards, but Mr. Brumbaugh who was glad to have their support was glad to have the respectable citizens of the city.

While the gang workers looked on the band played "Swamp Bunch Soldiers" and "Gang, All Ye Gangs." The Penrose and liquor dealer clans smiled a little at this.

Then the meeting was opened by a mission worker among the dark and outcasts. Letters were read from relatives and from John Brumbaugh who teaches a Sunday school class here in Brumbaugh.

To cap the climax, the mayor "the public" the mayor on the Brumbaugh banner, when it was being carried across the street.

"Here's a Witness" Says
The whole lot of the meeting the hymns, the religious singing, the mission workers' banners, the letters from missions and from school teachers, read in the face of the crowd of liquor men and gangsters. Penrose hoodlums, strong arm men from the Brumbaugh wards and representatives of the corrupt elements in corrupt politics who nominated Brumbaugh in 1911, left a bad taste in the mouths of citizens.

The Penrose workers themselves hated the proceedings.

"We give him the vote, and he knows it," one of them said. "We're just a nuisance."

When John found that this was not sufficient he planned into the fight for the workmen's compensation and for government employees, and did not cease his efforts until the law was passed.

The thousands of men who now work for the United States government and whose wives and children are protected by the event of death or injury owe much to Gifford Pinchot. Bolos Penrose refused to vote for the workmen's compensation act when it came up at Washington. Upon his influence the political machine in this state defeated the workmen's compensation in the Pennsylvania Legislature. Workmen in this state who are killed or injured are not thoroughly protected.

The voters in Pennsylvania have before them these two men: one Gifford Pinchot, a conscientious and vigorous advocate of all fair and just legislation for workmen, the other, Penrose, a servant of the special interests, who has helped to defeat important legislation needed by workmen.

As between Penrose and Pinchot the working men of Pennsylvania should not hesitate a minute to cast their vote for Pinchot.

MODERN ENGINEERING
TRIUMPH ON B. R. & P.

The effectiveness of modern engineering was emphasized on Tuesday, when the engineer department
of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railway replaced the old bridge
on the Rochester Belt Line which Charlotte boulevard crosses in Rochester, N. Y., with a new 52 foot
single span bridge, making the
transfer in two hours.

The old bridge, built in 1888, was
too small to accommodate the growth
of traffic on this branch. The old bridge carried the street and trolley line over a single track while the
new span bridge carries street car
tracks and the Buffalo, Rochester
& Pittsburgh railway tracks.

As the last car from Charlotte
passed Tuesday morning at 12:40 A.
M., a big gang of construction men
began tearing down the old structure and then placing the new girder
in place. Within two hours the tracks of the street car company were laid and welded and the Charlotte boulevard once more united a job that a few years ago
would have compelled the tying up
of the boulevard for days.

Engineering Force Cut.
That portion of the engineering
force of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad which was recently increased at the establishment of the
valuation bureau to assist in the
valuation of railroads will be the only
portion not to suffer in retrenchment program that will cut down the number of engineers November 1.
It is said that the ax will fall principally on the younger men in the
service, the assistant civil engineers,
for the most part these regarded
as students who have just completed courses in engineering are taking up practical work.

The new bridge is of the through plate girder construction with solid
floor of reinforced concrete steel
beams. The old bridge was the deck girder span type.

Decision Favors Railroads.

Pittsburgh railroad offices have been informed that the Interstate Commerce Commission has handed down a ruling that a passenger may
not leave a train at any point he chooses and then collect a refund on
the whole of the remaining unused
portion of the ticket. The decision was made in the case of T. C.
Kennedy, of Chicago, who purchased
a ticket from New York City to Chicago on New York Central. He left the train at Syracuse, N. Y., and tried to collect the fare from that place to Chicago. The commission
decided that a refund should be made from Chicago, Ind., the first station for which a ticket can be purchased, and a refund from Chicago
to Chicago was awarded.

WAR MAPS FOR
PROGRESS READERSValuable Aids to Understanding
of European Situation

A HANDSOME PIECE OF WORK

With These Maps the Public Can Tell
at a Glance the Location of the Cities and Towns Where the Fighting Nations are Struggling for Supremacy—How Maps May be Procured.

In keeping with its determination
to give the readers of the Progress
the latest and best news of the great European war, the management of this paper has decided to distribute
to the public at a nominal cost to the people an official map of the territory in which the big armies of the warring powers are fighting. With the aid of this map the citizen can trace accurately the movements of
the armies and discover the scenes
of battles as reported day by day
in the news columns of the Progress.

This map is large, is printed in
five colors, with the names and locations of the towns and cities, mountains, rivers and other data necessary
to a complete understanding of the situation in the war zone. The map
is as originally made in Europe by the war process, at once expensive and
complete, and has been reproduced in
this country on copperplate. The type
is clear and the places sought by the man who is after information regarding the war are plainly marked. On the back of this map is to be found
the latest and most authentic information regarding the nations now engaged in the conflict.

The Progress has been able to procure a number of these maps for distribution to those who wish to have an intelligent conception of the great events which are happening in Europe. To secure one of these maps
the reader will cut the coupon from another page of this paper and present it, with ten cents, at the counter of the business office of the Progress and one of the maps will be handed to him. As the number of copies of the map which the Progress
was able to get is limited it will be well for those who wish copies to call
early.

The maps will be sent by mail
either in town or out of town for 12
cents in coin, stamps or money order.
They are really the most valuable
maps of Europe that are in existence,
and will prove a source of profit to
those who wish to learn more than
they know of the countries across the sea. If you wish to keep posted on the movements of the immense armies in the greatest conflict the world
has ever known, get one of these maps at once.

BRUMBAUGH'S VOTE
CAME MOSTLY FROM
CITY LIQUOR WARDS

Dr. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for governor, in his effort to keep the people from believing that he was personally selected by Penrose, McNichol and the Vares, is taking the people of the state that he received his commission to run for governor from the 253,000 voters who
instructed for him at the spring primary. It is interesting to ask who these 253,000 gentlemen were and
where they lived, and what they stand
for.

By reference to the returns, we find
that 85,667 of them lived in the city
of Philadelphia, and that 39 per cent
of these Philadelphia live in legislative districts that voted solidly
against local option in the last legislature. Upon further investigation,
we find that of the 253,000 voters who instructed for Dr. Brumbaugh, only 24,768, or less than 10 per cent, lived
in the counties which voted solidly
for local option. If Dr. Brumbaugh
got his commission to run for governor of the state from these 253,000
voters, his commission looks mighty soppy. In fact, a comparison of the records shows that it was not different from the commission that was handed to one Boies Penrose to run
for United States senator.

The direct and circumstantial charge that Senator Boies Penrose himself was personally guilty of putting money to debauch the late Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia, is made by the North American.

This direct exposure giving dates and places and stating categorically that Penrose was personally mixed up in the scandalous financial intrigues of the Republican leaders of Philadelphia created consternation last week among the machine leaders and workers of Philadelphia.

The editors of the North American charge circumstantially that Senator Penrose with two city contractors debauched the late Mayor Reyburn while he was then magistrate of the city by the payment of sums aggregating $138,000.

The North American recites that in August, 1911, Penrose sought an interview with the editors of that newspaper and told them that Reyburn and Clay, his director of public safety, were bankrupts and corruptionists, and that they had received from contractors, politicians and corporation officials nearly $1,000,000 in cash and other forms of financial aid.

Penrose then sought the help of the North American in defeating William S. Vare, one of the contractor politicians of Philadelphia, who was a candidate for mayor and who was being supported by Reyburn and Clay.

Penrose had brought the Catlin commission to Philadelphia in order to censure the Vare candidacy out of existence. This Catlin commission professed itself ready to hear charges from whatever source concerning the contract irregularities of the politicians of Philadelphia.

Penrose declared to the North American and Attorney General Bell, who was in the conference with the editors, that he himself, along with others would appear before the Catlin commission and give testimony. He gave his "word of honor" that the hearing of the charges would be held and that he would appear as a witness to substantiate by his testimony the facts concerning widespread municipal corruption which he had volunteered to the editors of the paper.

Penrose informed the editors of the North American that Director Clay had lost at least one-half a million dollars in gambling in rapid transit stock. Among other amounts given to Reyburn and Clay by politicians he specified a large sum—$138,000—which he said Reyburn had received in cash from certain interests. Almost immediately thereafter he said that two or three persons who provided it was contractors—city contractors, who had received facts from the mayor.

"And then without further urging, he said that one of the two was Vare and the other McNichol," says the North American expose.

Penrose Convicts Himself.

"Just here the senator related with great gusto an incident which seemed to afford him the richest amusement. William S. Vare, he said, personally paid $5,000 cash to Reyburn, and then came 'strutting' before Penrose and others, 'with his chest sticking out like a pouter pigeon's,' so proud was he of his success in actually having passed the money into the mayor's hand—the first time he had experienced that personal triumph of diplomacy.

"Senator Penrose was in a position to appreciate the exquisite humor of Vare's pride in his achievement, since he knew that McNichol and Israel W. Durham had passed cash over to Reyburn before he was elected mayor.

"Thus we had the voluntary, explicit avowals of Senator Penrose, made before witnesses, that Reyburn and Clay had been debauched by Vare, McNichol, Durham and others.

He asked us impressively what we supposed could be the effect of publication of these facts upon the mayor and the director.

"We said that if the facts were properly supported and were capable of legal proof, it would destroy the two officials; otherwise, of course, the publication would destroy The North American. And we inquired what substantiation we could count upon.

"Why," said Senator Penrose, "I would stand behind you."

"How?" we inquired.

"I'll appear as a witness," said the senator.

"As a witness to what?" we inquired.

"Well," said the senator, in a final burst of candor, "I was one of the three who supplied the $138,000. I put up one-third of the money."

"Then the senator explained he felt it necessary for the sake of the party."

"$138,000 Put Up.

"After having unburdened himself of this vital acknowledgment—that the $138,000 corruption fund was raised by himself and McNichol and Vare—Senator Penrose readily gave us further details.

"He said the money was raised jointly, and paid to the mayor—after the $5,000 passed over by Vare—through Fred Wagner, a confidential bookkeeper in the office of Wolf Brothers.

"Then he described with graphic humor the ceaseless importunities of

Reyburn—how he would pursue the members of the corruption syndicate with messages by letter and telegram and telephone; how his demands became so enormous that they were compelled to pay him sums just large enough to keep him quiet—$5,000 when he asked for $10,000, $10,000 when he asked for $20,000, and so on.

"Very likely," he remarked, with solemn sarcasm, "you will find that the payments were most liberal just before contracts were to be handed out at city hall."

"Such was the startling budget of news that we took to our legal adviser, after receiving the senator's assurance that he would tap all his sources of information for evidence to corroborate the charges with which he had furnished us.

"It was from Senator Penrose, then, that we first learned that Reyburn and Clay, bankrupts, had been debauched by contractors, politicians and corporation officers.

"It was from Senator Penrose that we learned that William S. Vare had personally handed cash to Reyburn, and that Edwin H. Vare had 'fixed' the mayor by purchasing worthless bonds from him.

"Senator Penrose it was who informed us that Clarence Wolf had given Reyburn at least $100,000.

"It was he who related to us how President McCall and the Philadelphia electric interests backed Clay's stock-gambling account; how John B. Parsons and George D. Widener had endorsed Clay's paper and had had to pay $100,000.

It was Senator Penrose who disclosed to us the fact that the joint account recording the debauchery of Reyburn was kept in the office of Wolf Brothers by a confidential book-keeper.

"And it was Senator Penrose who made known to us the fact that Vare and McNichol were two of three men who raised $138,000 to bribe Reyburn, admitting, finally, that he himself was the third member of the syndicate of corruption."

"Word of Honor" Didn't Stand.

In spite of Penrose's "word of honor" the North American charges that 48 hours before the time set for the hearing before the Catlin commission, rumors were circulated that Senator Penrose was going to adjourn his Catlin commission.

"We were actually getting ready to proceed to the hearing room, when word came that the commission had adjourned," says a North American, "and from that day to this, it has never been reconvened. We soon learned that Senator Penrose had ordered his commission to decamp."

MT. CARMEL SPEAKER LIKENS PENROSE TO SAVOR OF MANKIND

The following is part of the unprinted report of the Penrose meeting at Mt. Carmel on Saturday afternoon, taken from the Mt. Carmel Item.

"Judge Walter, who introduced Penrose to the crowd, declared that the senator is one of the worst malignant and most shamefully abused men in history. He likened Penrose to Socrates, who had to drink the poisoned cup; to Jesus Christ, who was betrayed and crucified; and to Abraham Lincoln, the martyred President. Penrose was presented in a new light that of the vilified public servant, of the martyr, of the supporter of religion and contributor to Foreign Missions.

"Penrose himself was visibly affected by the great and glorious tribute paid him by the judge, and was so thoroughly pleased by learning of these new things that Mr. Walter has been virtue to his corps of stumblers. Thus virtue hath her own reward.

"In the course of his remarks he read a letter from Senator Penrose to Miss Fannie Derr, formerly of Lewisburg, now a resident of Mount Carmel, in which the senator inclosed a check for foreign missions. The letter which was dated September 29, 1907, read:

"Dear Madam:—I have your letter of the 22nd inst., and take pleasure in inclosing herewith my check as a contribution to foreign missions. I hope the time is not far distant when the Word of God will be preached to the ends of the earth. Hoping that success may crown your efforts, I am respectfully yours."

NOTE—And this is the man whom the liquor associations are boosting for senator, and for whose defeat the organized churches are working and praying. There is something wrong somewhere. Something has happened to somebody since that ancient epistle was written. Seven years is a long period—a biblical period, by the way—and drink has accomplished many a man's undoing in less time than that.

Alas, Poor Penrose.

Comparisons were ever odious.

To the Voters of Clearfield County
I repudiate the published endorsement of the Saloon people.

The Liquor league did not support me at the primaries, nor are they supporting me at the coming general election.

I stand for and am in favor of the question of local option being submitted to the voters of Clearfield county.

This was my position when I became a candidate for the office of State Senator, and shall be when elected to that office.

CARLISLE FOOTBALL TEAM SURPRISE TO DOPERS

BY FRANK G. MENKE.
(Special to Progress.)

New York, Oct. 30.—"What's the matter with Carlisle?" is the big football question of the year, and even Glen Warner, the great coach of the Indian Eleven, seems unable to make answer.

Not in years has any Carlisle team made as poor an early season showing as has Warner's 1914 outfit. Carlisle always has had a team that took rank with the greatest in the country. The Carlisle team of the past, crushed the smaller colleges and often played the biggest and strongest either to a standstill, or went farther and gave them a beating.

But this year it is different. Carlisle was beaten soundly in more of its first six games, and against the type of foe that Carlisle would have considered "easy meat" in the other years. In its first six games, Carlisle has scored only 42 points—average of only one touchdown an hour.

The Carlisle team of 1913 scored almost as many points against the great Dartmouth eleven in one game as has the 1914 eleven in six games this year against foes that are considered weaklings in comparison with Dartmouth.

The strangest part of the Carlisle reversal is the fact that the Carlisle team of 1914 at the outset of the season looked to be just about as good as the 1913 eleven.

Pugilistic champions pay just about as much attention to weight limits as the Federal league does to Dan Johnson's threat.

The bantam limit is 118. Kid Williams no longer will agree to weigh at that figure. About 120 or 121 is new to him. And more within his possibilities.

Johnny Kulkarn, the featherweight champ, won't step into the ring under 128 although the limit is 122. Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, won't go 133 although the prescribed limit, Willie Ritchie, lightweight champ of the year, and Francis U. S. A. makes 135 and no less.

Mike Gibbons, the acknowledged welterweight champion, won't submit to weighing in at ringside. He'll charge 25 cents entrance each to 145 at 3 P. M.—and then gain about 5 pounds between that time and the hour set for the fight.

The middleweight limit is 155. Field

George Chip, leading claimant for the title of that division, will make 158 at 5 P. M. but he won't make it at ringside. His ringside weight is 160—and over.

The winter leaguers already have "eaten" Ben Shibe from his nice cozy job as president of the Athletics and have given the job to Clement Mack. They appointed Harry Davis manager in place of Mack. This will prove a surprise to the Athletic officials, but they must be prepared for surprises in the off season.

One of the golf Commandments is—"Thou shalt not kill thy caddy." It is calling the size of some of the "boys" who have caddied for us, we think that section ought to read—"Thou shalt not sass thy caddy."

Dear Mr. Menke:
I am thinking of taking up golf and would like to know its benefits. What does it teach you?

Here is another letter:
"Who has the baseball record for putouts in one fine lining major league game?"

A. R. Whalen.
Bill Klein holds the record. He made 25 putouts in a game between the Giants and Braves in New York, about 4 weeks ago.

Someone on the Giant bench yelled "Catfish" at Bill. Not knowing which of the 25 rookies and regulars on the Giant bench had applied the hoted name to him, Bill took no chances. He ordered the entire gang out of the field. Bill, therefore, is credited with 25 putouts—and he made them all in a single inning.

GOOD GAME PROMISED AT THE PARK TOMORROW

The football game tomorrow afternoon at the Driving park, between the Clearfield and Huntington high schools, will undoubtedly be the best game that has been played here this season. The local team has been playing fast, clean ball all season and has defeated every team it has met except Indiana Normal. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock and the admission is 25 cents entrance each. The game will be played on a new bleacher, from where an excellent view may be had of the entire playing field.

$4,800 For A $6,500 Home

This is one of the best opportunities ever offered in Clearfield. The property is located in the very best residential section of Clearfield. The house has 13 rooms with every modern convenience, including electric light, gas, hot water heating system, open fire place, and is finished in hard wood.

If you were to build now you could not duplicate this property for $6,000. It is delightfully arranged and comfortable, and is an ideal home.

My business interests are elsewhere so for 60 days, I have decided to consider offers at the sacrifice price of $4,800.

If you want a home that will prove an investment and a delight, write to me.

Hospital Campaign Extended

Closing Monday Night, November 2nd.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, and to the fact that the solicitors are personally busy men, we find it necessary to extend this campaign until Monday night in order to thoroughly canvass the town and county. This will give all localities an opportunity to bear their share of the burden.

A Suggestion From The Committee:

To those who have not been called upon we respectfully urge that they send their subscription to George T. Bigler, Treasurer.

PERSONAL

October 30, 1914

Edward T. Bird had business in DuBois this week.

Mrs. Edna Albert, of DuBois, is visiting friends in town.

which he set forth that appeared religious meetings of any kind would be permitted, allowed him his freedom.

"Returning to the corner, the speaker again opened his address claiming the right of speech. However, it was soon evident that the man would be arrested a second time, and accordingly arrangements were made for the accommodation of the speaker and his audience in a nearby theatre.

"Attorney Kintner paid his respects to the judicial authorities and subsequently delivered an address based on the Socialist platform.

OBITUARY

Frank Roth, a young man of Troutville, died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of his father, C. W. Roth, on Tremont.

The deceased had been a sufferer from tuberculosis for some time, which disease caused his death. He was a Spanish-American war veteran and was aged 28 years. Surviving him are his father and mother, three brothers and one sister, Mrs. Lillian Roth, of DuBois.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Burial will probably be made on Sunday afternoon.

Church Bazaar

The Ladies Aid society of Trinity M. E. church will hold a bazaar in parlors of the church on Thursday, November 5, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Everybody is invited.

Citizens—Do you want a chance to vote on the liquor question? Then elect men who are pledged to give you that chance. Vote for Earle G. Boose for Assembly. Boose is Anti-Booze.

A. H. WOODWARD INDORSES PENROSE

party in a manner which led their hearers to infer that the party needed something to say a good word for it. The lack of enthusiasm which greeted the words of these speakers must have convinced them that it would have been better for them had they confined their remarks to the European war, the apple market or something of the kind.

A. H. Woodward, Esq., who is really a gifted orator, was not at his best last night, the subject of Penroseism being a difficult one for him to handle. Mr. Woodward finally swallowed Penrose, but it was a difficult task for him.

Near the close of Mr. Woodward's remarks he said: "They say that Boies Penrose drinks whiskey. They say that Boies Penrose represents the liquor interests. Now, men, what difference does it make to you and me if Penrose does drink whiskey? What difference if Penrose is allied with the liquor interests? What we need is a man competent and capable."

"If you are going to build a house do you go out and inquire if the carpenter or that drinks whiskey or do you inquire if he is a good workman? During war days, when some one informed President Lincoln that General Grant was drinking what did Lincoln say? He said: 'You show me the brand of whiskey that Grant drinks and I will buy a thousand barrels of it for my men? I say, the Anti-Saloon league has no right to indorse one candidate over another.'

Statements of the speakers against the state government and the part Penrose and the Republican party has taken in that government were perfunctorily applauded, after the handclapping had been started on the stage. The assertion that Pennsylvania is the only state in the union out of debt caused some of the people present to mentally remind themselves that if the gangsters had not robbed the state of $9,000,000 in the furnishing of the state capitol, Pennsylvania would today be in much better financial condition. Also, some of the audience could not help wondering if the state would now be out of debt if the grafters had not been compelled to refund $3,000,000 of the stolen money.

A peculiar feature of the meeting was the fact that the local Republican ticket was not mentioned, either in a commendatory or an apologetic manner. Nation and state received attention, but the candidates for office from this county and the districts were ignored or forgotten. Altogether the meeting was typical of Republican meetings held in this state this year. Gloom pervaded the house. Live issues were not touched upon, praise was given Republicans who if living today, would not touch Penrose with a ten-foot pole, and oratory smothered argument. Many of those present last evening left the opera house with pity in their hearts for the condition of the remnant of the great old Republican party which now finds itself in the grasp of Penrose, the unspeakable boss.

Chicken and Waffles.

The Ladies Aid society of the Baptist church will serve a chicken and waffle supper in the church Tuesday evening, November 3, from 7 o'clock. Price, 50 cents. Miss Rose Williams, secretary. 762-2-4.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to elect men to the Legislature who could speak in support of good legislation as well as vote for it? Earle G. Boose will do both. Vote for him.

The Hospital Campaign has been extended until Monday evening, November 2. Read the Ad on page 8.
